

The Calverton School

2026-2027 Summer Work Rising 11th Grade

English Summer Reading

Over the summer, freshmen and juniors will read at least one book from the list below and participate fully in that book's discussion. This will constitute the first grade of the quarter. Students who read more than one book from the list and participate in the requisite book discussions will receive extra credit in English class—one point on the first quarter grade for each book read (up to five), and ¼ point for every book read beyond that.

Please have students (or parents) email Dr. Joel Coleman by June 30 with the book discussion(s) that you plan to attend. jcoleman@calvertonschool.org

Below are the possible books to choose from and the dates of their discussions. Students should pick a book that is appropriate for their interests and reading level and one that is offered on a date when they can be available for discussion. Once students have signed up for their books, we will decide what time during the day to meet, whether to meet at Calverton (the default location for book discussions) or at another location that better fits the setting of the book (i.e. on St. Leonard Creek for Cannery Row or at Calverton School's wetland property for Great Expectations, for instance), and other logistics.
